Pope Pius Is Startled But Pleased As Middies Hail Him With Grid Yell

staid audience chambers of the Holy See today.

The midshipmen, on a training cruise in the Mediterranean, were presented in audience to the pontiff. They were led by their officers and Admiral Hayne Ellis, in charge of the cruise ships Wyoming and Arkansas.

The pope had made his customary brief address to the visitors, when Cheer Leader Henry L. ("Hank") Muller, of Leonid, N. J., pounced out of the crowd and shouted:

"All right, let's have four N's, one Nay-vee and three Holy Fathers—make it hot!"

Hank went into his acrobatic cheer leading, arms flying beneath the papal throne in the hall of the consistory, where the pope confers with his cardinals.

"The pope started in amazement and then, smiling with patent delight at the outburst, called Muller to the throne and congratulated him on the performance.

He smiled and waved at the Middies, who grinned back at him in ending one of the most unusual audiences in the pope's library prior to the cheering. The ocean represents the insuperable master of life. It is a matchless middlenge in the pope's library prior to the entrance of the Midshipmen.

Non-Celebrating Nazis Facing Loss of Jobs BERLIN. July 18.—(P)—Workers who willfully remained away from the nazi May Day celebration may be dismissed from their jobs without recourse to the law, a court decided today, even though their action was taken for reasons of conscience.

A number of persons who lost their jobs appealed to the courts on the ground that as members of the "Bible Researchers" they were forhidden by their religion to pay hon-

The court held that the honors given nazi leadership in the May Day celebrations were not of a divine nature and that moreover it was the legal duty of workers to attend prescribed exercises.

These developments followed a formal call of the federal longshoremen's strike board for immediate cancellation of all walkouts and submission of all central issues—those in the long-shoremen's and maritime workers strikes—to collective bargaining and

The strike committee allowed the opening of all union restaurants in San Francisco, the opening of meat markets, the distribution of fresh food and the release of blockaded gasoline and oil supplies.

Food. Gasoline Moved.

About 200 truckloads of food and gasoline, several of them without armed escorts and some even having no strikers' permits, entered the East Bay area and made deliveries without interference. Other unescorted trucks converged upon Oakland from points south. Delivery of gasoline for other than emergency services was begun in the Piedmont section of Oakland.
Only one attempt to hinder convoyed trucks was reported. This was at Desoto, 20 miles south of Oakland, where two telephone poles were found across a highway.

The board then called upon the maritime unions to agree to this and proposed immediate calling off of all strikes and the return of men to work without discrimination because of union affiliations or because of participation in the various walkouts.

P. A. Donaghue, chief examiner for the new national labor board, arrived here from Washington and conferred with the longshore board preparing to offer his services.

The arbitration proposal was substantially the same as those previously dismissed, except this time it was backed by the power of the San Francisco atrike committee and by the formal pronouncement by the federal board.

Day's Developments In Labor Disorders

By the Associated Press.
Official demands for discontinuance of the San Francisco general strike last night came as potent influences worked toward that same objective.

General Hugh S. Johnson, gov-ernment spokesman in the dispute, asserted: "The first step to peace and an agreement is to lift that strike."

Mayor Angelo J. Rossi, of San Francisco, in a statement said: "In the presence of a general strike, nothing can be arbitrated or accom-plished. The strike must be ended." About the same time, Harry Bridges, militant leader of the striking longshoremen whose strike was the cause of the sympathetic general walkout of union labor in the west coast port city, caused a flurry by first remarking to newspapermen: "The general strike is over, but the longshoremen are not beaten," and quickly repudiating his comment.

beaten," and quickly repudiating his comment.

Johnson also said that if the general strike were called off, he would recommend removal of the national guardsmen. He conferred with strike leaders and planned to talk with employers.

Another development was the formal call by the federal longshoremen's strike board for immediate cancellation of all walkouts and the submission of the original issue—the longshoremen and maritime workers' dispute—to collective bargaining and arbitration.

President Roosevelt, in a message to Secretary of Labor Perkins, expressed his confidence that "common sense and good judgment would prevail" at San Francisco, and in the ability of the federal mediation board to arrive at a "reasonable solution."

Lessening one of the major ter-rors of the strike—the threat of a food famine—the blockade was lift-ed to permit the moving of fresh fruit and vegetables into San Fran-fruit and vegetables into San Francisco.

At the same time mediators sought to take advantage of the strikers' offer of arbitration and an offer by shipowners to deal with the longshoremen. Although the employers had refused to deal with nine other maritime unions, the peacemakers believed they had the foundation for a settlement of the general strike.

Two conferences, one by the shipowners and the other by Mayor Angelo Rossi and other mediators, were under way.

"If Talmadge, while he was commissioner of agriculture, took state money in furtherance of his campaign, he is a dishonest man," Judge Pittman declared. He cited figures to show that salaries and expense accounts in the agriculture department were spectacularly increased during Talmadge's 1932 campaign for governor.

Judge Pittman also attacked the economy claims of the present governor and declared that former Governor Russell "did a better job in 1932 by $1,194,586,42 than Governor Talmadge did in 1933." CHICAGO, July 18.—(A)—A $225,-000 theft of negotiable drafts issued by the Chicago. Milwaukee & St. Paulrailway was disclosed tonight as police detained two men for question-

The drafts, including one for $100,-000 and another for $19,000 payable to the First Wisconsin National bank, of Milwaukee, and another for $100,000 payable to the Northwestern National bank, Minneapolis, were last seen on June 8.

A trusted employe, Joseph Fuscone, 23, messenger for the railroad, took the drafts and other papers to the postoffice here for mailing. The other papers arrived at their destination but the drafts did not.

prominence as master of ceremonies on the biggest radio program on the air. That's the route taken by Ray Walker in his latest screen contribution "The Londspeaker" which opens at the Capitol theater today.

Walker, as Joe Miller, is employed as a station helper in Burlap. There, his practical jokes are the bane of his companions' existences. Pulling one joke too many, he is fired and goes to New York.

one joke too many, he is fired and goes to New York.

Taking advantage of a situation that called for diplomacy in lieu of mechanical ability Joe manages to land a contract as master of ceremonies on the Burroughs Pancake Flour hour. And if it hadn't been for the fact he was forced to eat pancakes every day. Joe might have stayed on indefinitely. Others in the cast of "Loudspeaker" are Jacqueline Wells. Noel Francis and Charley Grapewin.

whatsoever, but have been unable to overcome this alien opposition.

These reputable organized leaders are those who are derisively termed "decrepit misleaders" by the Daily Worker.

An Australian named Harry Bridges, began his activities in the language and the source of the horns," was to return attracted tens of thousand of Spaniards to France. Half-a-dozen ambassadors were there. Belmonte, wearing his brilliant scarlet costume, encrusted with gold embroidery, was given a thunderous ovation as he entered the arean with his quadrilla and took his place calmly as a ferocious black Andalusian bull was released.

Back to Barrier.

After several brilliant passes and after the picadors and the banderillos had further enraged the animal, Belimonte staged his daring act of kneeling before the deadly horns with his back to the talenqueria, the wooden barrier which incloses the colorful and dangerous spectacle. He touched the beast on the nose tauntingly. There was a terrifying charge and Belmonte flew up into the air and came down on the horns. Then he was again tossed high.

Women screamed and tens of thousands rose to their feet. I held my breath and I actually believe my heart missed a dozen beats. The bull tore into the barrier and cut it to splinters, while Belmonte, wounded in the thigh, crawled to safety. Then he rose, signalled for his sword, and despite his pain, made a nearly perfect kill, showing his mastery over the infuriated bull.

In Spain he would have been carried from the ring and paraded through the streets in triumph. "I was scared for a minute," he told newspapermen afterwards, lying in bed after the fight. "It's not easy to come back after seven years, even though I have tried to keep in practice on my farm. I've killed nearly 2,500 bulls, so if the 2,501st gets me it will be a sort of justice. But, I don't think he is born yet."

News Behind the News

(Paul Mallon, whose signature usually appears over this dispatch, is on a brief vacation. During his absence the column will be composed of contributions from leading Washington correspondents.)

IN TOUCH WASHINGTON, July 18.—With serious events taking place in various parts of the country and the president far out in the Pacific ocean, the public is naturally curious to know how he keeps in contact with the situation and how quickly he learns of what happens. It is obvious to every one that, through the navy wireless, President Roosevelt is in communication with the executive offices in the White House at Washington, but the closeness of this touch may not be realized.

During his cruise in the Atlantic and Caribbean, the White House forwarded important papers and messages to the president by air mail over the Pan-American system as well as by wireless. ceived a big batch of mail while in Porto Rico and he was caught again with air mail in the Canal Zone. Mail from the president came back in the same way. One pouch was sent off by air mail when he entered the canal and another when he left it on the Pacific side. These arrived in Washington the first of the week, a day apart.

Now that he is in the Pacific, mail is forwarded to him by way of San Francisco. It goes in duplicate, one set being sent by train and the other by air mail, so that, if, by any accident, one set was destroyed, the other would remain. From San Francisco, such mail collected there is forwarded to Hawaii by fast steamer. After this delivery, the next mail to be received by the president will be when he arrives at Portland, where he is due on August 3.

SPEED Messages forwarded by wireless are sent either "in the as those in plain English are called, or in code. Quicker results are, of course, obtained with the plain messages, but only because of the time necessary for decoding. All wireless messages are comparatively short, but some of them run as long as two ordinary typewritten sheets. To illustrate the speed of communication, a dispatch has been sent to the president since he has been in the Pacific and a reply received within 40 minutes. swers to code messages have been received in about twice that time.

The greatest portion of these transfers of information during few days has been concerned with the strike situation in San Francisco and on the Pacific coast. Every development in it has been related to the president over the navy wireless, so that he is as fully cognizant of what is going on as if he were receiving the news at his office in the White House.

In these circumstances, however, one wonders just how much of a holiday rest the president is having.

OTHER DAYS, OTHER CUSTOMS According to some of the insiders, a curious situation has developed within the republican party. As outlined by the new national chairman, Henry P. Fletcher, it is planned to try to bring young men into the organization and, in order to do so, to "go liberal" to a certain extent. But, looking forward to the presidential campaign of 1936 and speculating on candidates who would represent this policy and appeal to the middle and far west, which it is conceded must be propitiated, the leaders are rather stumped for a choice. Ultra-conservatives in the party, who try not to fool themselves, have pretty generally come to the conclusion that, unless things change decidedly, it would be hopeless to nominate an eastern stand-patter in 1936, and so they are turning their eyes

Strange as it may seem, the most likely and most prominent personality that has come to their minds is Senator William Es Borah, of Idaho. Strange, not because of any lack of qualifications for the place, nor even of age, but because Borah has never been in the good graces of the ultra-conservatives. While his party regis untarnished-he did not go off with the Bull Moosers and has not kicked over the traces with any other movement-he has never been amenable to discipline and has played a lone hand.

CHANGE OF HEART In the past, whenever the possibility of his being nominated for president has been mentioned to Borah, he has always parried the approach by saying, "Oh, they (meaning the crowd in control) would never have however, since the new line has been taken by Chairman Fletcher, not one but several eastern stand-pat repub-lican leaders have privately mentioned Borah as most likely to meet their demands and the demands of the situation. Borah's campaign against the NRA is right in harmony with the attacks which have been made upon it by the republican campaign managers, and, thus, the idea is further supported. Borah, an impressive and attractive speaker, would be just the man to provide the spearhead for their assault. Whether the Borah boom grows or not, it is a piquant development to find eastern conservative republicans turning for aid in their quandary to their severest

ily. He does it knowingly, as a manly duty; but they, being supplied with abundance too easily come by, are prone to forget their obligation and accept him casually as a combination work horse and Santa Claus. Since he serves willingly, in the pride of his strength, he isn't aware that he is denied a part of his just reward.

But when he reaches and passes his prime and begins to break little, his increasing weakness brings his emotions near the surface and prepares him for the discovery that he has missed something. Somebody—perhaps a guest or a casual acquaintance—is nim, and the experience awakens a long-dormant appetite.

Without realizing it, he has been starved for kindness—not for petting or humoring or coddling, but for the simple and thoughtful services that are promoted by kindness of heart.

This newly discovered need of kindness explains much so-called philandering, for this is the time when quiet old work-horses become "unfaithful" and disgrace the family.

But the old fellow who goes astray isn't kicking up his heels in a sex affair because the devil is in him. Some woman has been kind to him, and kindness is all he asks of life.

Control of Holding Companies Expected as Result of Matthews and McCulloch Study of Middle West Utilities.

Many an investor has been wondering what is the future of the holding company in American business. The government lately has been riding holding companies hard and the state commissions are beginning to peer into commissions are beginning to peer into the intricacies of holding companies. A Stranger With a Juicy Bone Can Steal Any Dog Not Fed at Home

By Robert Quillen

When a man becomes mentally mature, which some never do, he feels are certain masculine pride in self-reliance and independence.

It is proud of the fact that he doesn't need anybody to help him or serve him or wait on him. He feels more respectable because he isn't "beholden to anybody."

It makes a creed of service and unselfishness. He supports his family as a matter of course, but his duty does not stop there; he plans for them and does od chores for them and renders innumerable small services, as a faithful menial might if a menial could be so devoted.

The result is sometimes unfortunate.

In America, as in no other country, the bread-winner spoils his family. He does it knowingly, as a manly duty; but they, being and and accept his control of the fact that he doesn't need anybody."

Old System's Abuses.

Mr. McCulloch's views may not be shared entirely by men in the utility business who have had many more years than he has of practical contact with the many reasons why investment credit was built up through the holding companies. The fact is that the abuses in the old system stand out like a sore thumb, while many of the reasons which led to the light of depression developments, viewed in the proper perspective. Thus many of the communities benefiting at present from relatively cheap electric light and power would not have those advantages were it not for the principle of diversified risk which the holding company has established so effectively, not only in the utility business but in the business of oublishing chain newspapers or in the holding company has established so effectively, not only in the utility business but in the business of oublishing chain newspapers or in the holding of our large transportation systems.

(Copyright, 1934, by The Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.) TOKYO-(By Mail)-The partitioning that China has suffered during the past decade—including the loss of Manchuria, Inner and Outer Mongolia and Jehol—would be as nothing to what might happen to her if there should come a complete collapse of national government-something that is not, it must be admitted, probable, but far from impossible.

Surprising as it may be, the outlook now is that France, and not Japan or Great Britain, would precipitate and lead in the scramble for

The average Chinese can see, in governmental affairs, no farther than his local village government, and it is this lack of national spirit and loyalty that will be the chief contributing cause should a collapse of the Nanking government ever come.

Not only has China under its regime lost more than a third of her territory, but public service of every kind has gone from bad to worse, while taxes have gone up.

Under such conditions it is not surprising that other nations, many of the constitutions of the Great Wall, at least Peiping and its port of Tanku.

Back of all this would lie, as the chief incentive, the desire of France and Great Britain to increase their name and trade purposes.

France Ready.

In the scramble, should it ever materialize, France undoubtedly will lead the way by seeking as a protectorate the rich province of Yunnan and Kwangsi, lying north of Indo-China. Uncle Butler was a shoemaker during the War Between the States, and today he can make one of the finest pairs of shoes that money can buy. For the last 70 years he has been in the service of the Potter family at Nashville.

He has just returned from Chicago, where he was taken to "see the sights" by his present employer and benefactor, Colonel Maro S. Potter, a prominent Nashville lawyer, who, with Uncle Butler, is stopping at the Ansley hotel here.

The 121-year-old negro was vastly impressed by what he saw at the World's Fair in Chicago. but he seemed not surprised at most of it, Colonel Potter said. The only thing Uncle Butler cannot comprehend is the radio. He believes that the voices he hears over the radio are imitation and he doesn't like to listen, for it seems too supernatural for him.

BUSINESS IS BETTER, ST. AMAND DECLARES

Business is recovering, but complete recovery is going to be slow.

J. G. St. Amand, president of the American Savings bank since it was opened in 1887, said Wednesday. This bank is the oldest going concern of its type in Georgia.

In those 47 years, he said, his bank, which lends to home owners, was instrumental in 10,000 families paying for the homes. It has never invested in speculative stocks and bonds, but has stuck close to the mortgage business. His bank weathered the crisis in 1933 and, with $2.50 in cash on hand for every dollar it owed, was alowed to open immediately after the holiday.

Mr. St. Amand came here in 1877 from Charleston when Atlanta had 30,000 people and the combined capital of its banks was only $800,000. He saw Bob Toombs and Alexander Stephens draft the state's constitution, and said that Toombs put up $25,000 of his own money to pay the expense of holding the legislature until the document was completed.

A Georgian From California Supplies the Big Tennis Upsetl

While Patsy, one of her three beautiful and athletic young daughters, looked on with unbounded pride, Mrs. Bill Henry defeated the Georgia state and the Atlanta city tennis champion yesterday afternoon, 6-2, 6-1.

I think Mrs. Bill Henry is Mrs. William N. Henry but then the family is the Bill Henry family, of Los Angeles, where Bill Herry is sports editor of the Los Angeles Times, a position he has held for a number of years. He is one of the finer fellows in the profession. In addition he writes for the movies and it was he who took charge of the Olympic games and conducted them with such success. And no one calls him by any name

The story, however, is that Mrs. Etta Taylor Coyne, our champion, had never lost to a Georgia woman tennis player. And yesterday, as the indefatigable Mrs. Henry got the ball back, and piled up points, she comforted herself with the thought that she was losing to a Californian. But when it was all over and they shook hands, Mrs. Henry said, "I'm from Georgia myself," and so another record had

Mrs. Henry lived at LaGrange and at College Park until she was about 11 years old when the family moved to California. She began tennis then. "I learned it batting the ball against a backboard," she said, "but I am seeing to it that the girls get good instruction."

It was Peggy Henry who attended the University of Georgia a couple of years ago and defeated all the tennis players there, male and female.

Patsy Henry could hardly keep still as her mother played yesterday. She wiggled in her chair and rooted

Mrs. Henry did very well. She has held the Pacific Northwest championship several times in past years. The daughter, Patsy, is going to enter the junior nationals this year and also is playing in the city.

It is quite likely that one member of the Henry family will appear in the finals. The draw will not permit a mother and daughter finals, both appearing in the lower bracket. But a mother and daughter semi-finals is predicted. And which ever wins probably will meet Miss Evangeline MacLennan for the

THE OLD REFORMER.

Well, clients, I am sorry but here comes the old boy out in the role of a reformer. I am against reformers even wher they are right. Just because they are reformers. But this

The nude male leg looks perfectly terrible and something should be done by law to prohibit the wearing of tennis or golf shorts by the masculine sex. The ladies look all right, most of them. But the men-gosh.

For two days now I have visited at the golf course and the tennis course where the state golf tournament and the city tennis tournament are in progress. And I can state, without fear of contradiction, that the nude male leg is the most goshawful looking object in the world as it protrudes from the

There are more funny looking male legs than you'd imagine. There are knobby legs, thin legs, knotty legs and big legs. And they all look terrible.

The fad is spreading and you will find the boys at the golf course tramping over the sward and in the rough with their nude white, pale legs exposed to view. Most of them have marks where the sock supporters have been.

And something must be done about it. If they can censor movies why not the nude male leg?

"SANDY" LIVINGSTONE.

Who should I see at the starter's tee at the golf tournament but Jimmy Livingstone, the Ingleside professional!

Jimmy Livingstone is getting around and about, so to speak, after having been knocked down, trampled and run over by an ice truck which came up behind him when he wasn't looking.

His legs were pretty badly mangled up. So much so that the doctors had to put Jimmy to sleep and literally take a spoon and scrape all the sand out of the wounds. There was

But Jimmy Livingstone has the sort of sand that can't he scraped out and so he refused to die and got well. A great fellow, is the Ingleside professional.

SARGENT WAS FIT TO BE TIED.

George Sargent, the East Lake professional, was fit to be tied yesterday afternoon. He was yelling for a cowboy to come out and lasso the live stock.

A chestnut-colored colt appeared from nowhere and began to enjoy the golf course. It was the swellest pasture that colt had ever seen in all his young life. And so he proceeded to kick up his heels, neigh and romp around to the great delight of the crowd. 'Oh, keep off those greens, keep off those greens," yelled George Sargent in a prayerful manner. And the colt, as if understanding, romped all round the 18th green without getting on it.

A policeman finally made the pinch, taking the colt by the ear and leading him off to docket him on a disorderly conduct charge.

THE SOUTHERN LEAGUE IS BUSY.

The Southern league continues to supply news. The Crackers are winning again, for one thing, and seem pretty well established in the first division. They finished third in the first half and will likely do as well this half. Which makes it the best team since 1925. Spencer Abbott and Wilbert Robinson had done and are doing, a swell job. it, will remain in Chattanooga. Meanwhile Mobile, Macon and Jacksonville are asking for it. Griffith might move out but it is doubtful. The Chattanooga fans, who used to sit in a dinky little grand stand and watch eighth place teams, do not seem to appreciate the great plant and pennant Griffith and Engel gave them.

THE POLICE COMMITTEEMAN.

My favorite mayor (have you registered yet?) Mr. James L. Key, has made Mr. Howard Haire, ninth ward councilman and a valued member of The Constitution force, a member of the police committee. As soon as I get my next parking ticket I will test out the new committeeman.

Mel Ott's 22d Homer Tops Off 6-Run Rally in Third.

NEW YORK, N. Y., July 18 .- (AP) The World Champion Giants ganged

The Cubs, fighting for the odd game that would have cut the Giants' lead to a single game, were full of trouble and dangerous all the way. Woody English hit a home run into the right-field stands to start the Cubs scoring in the sixth with only the fourth hit off Fitzsimmons.

The seventh, successive singles by Charley Grimm, Stan Hack and Bill Herman, a walk to English and Chuck Klein's single brought Luque in with three runs across. Floyd Herman belted over the fourth with a single to center, but the ancient Cuban stemmed the uprising there.

Floyd Herman hit the fourth homer of the day to start the ninth for the Cubs, but again Luque got out without further damage to save the Giants' 30th victory in 40 games at home this season.

The Giants, with Bill Terry, Joe Moore and Mel Ott leading the attack, messed up Bush, who has an abscessed ear, and Root in the third, did nothing to Roy Joiner, who followed them, but picked up a highly important run off Bud Tinning in the eighth on Johnny Vergez's home run with none on.

Fitz and Moore simpled Hunking

Fitz and Moore singled, Hughie Critz doubled and Terry singled to wipe out Bush. Ott hit the first ball Root pitched into the right-field stands scoring Terry ahead of him. Vergez's double after Jackson singled ran the total for the third inning to six.

Root got by until the sixth when singles by Danning, subbing for regular Catcher Gus Mancuso, and Fitz-simmons, coupled with a force play, scored another.

The Giants totaled 14 hits to the Beautiful Scenery at the City Tennis Tournament

Miss Evangeline McLennan, left, is one of the state's best tennis players and is one of the favorites in the city tournament now in progress at the Biltmore Tennis Club courts. At the right are Miss Patsy Henry and her mother, Mrs. W. N. Henry. They are from Los Angeles but are summering at Camp Chattooga, in north Georgia, and entered the tournament. Mrs. Henry eliminated the city and state champion, Mrs. Etta Taylor Coyne, in straight sets yesterday. She is former Pacific northwest champion and is from Georgia originally. Patsy is a strong contender in the tournament and plans to enter the junior national tournament this year. Photos by Kenneth Rogers.

A couple of gents with the good household name of Eddie figured more or less prominently in the Cracker news of yesterday.

Manager Spencer Abbott was fairly + delighted with Moore's ball playing in his debut with the club.

"Eddie was in better shape than I expected and told me he was ready to start playing when he got here, so I stuck him in there." Spencer said over the long-distance telephone last night. There was genuine enthusiasm in Spencer's tones. CAN STILL HIT.

Champ, as mentioned before in these columns, probably is the most improved player in city tennis. He trailed 5-3 in the first set, pulled up even and finally broke Dreger's service to win. Champ took the offensive in the second set but was unable to overcome the fine placements of his opponent.

Both began to show the wear and tear of the long volleys of the earlier sets in the final go-round. Many of the games had been deuced and it was nothing unusual to see an ex-change of 20 or 25 shots. Somebody suggested at one stage that they flip a coin for the point. Champ appeared to have the most reserve in the final set and, continu-

E. MOORE PLAYS

Buster Chatham Hits Homer as Club Gets 16 Blows.

By Marvin Thompson.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 18.—
Visioning the second-half title and their first Southern league pennant since 1925, the Atlanta Crackers made it two in a row over the Smokies with a 9-6 victory this afternoon at Smithson stadium.

Hopeful of winning this afternoon, manager Lee Head will shove Eddie Heusser against Pitcher Schmidt, of Atlanta, who has won 11 and lost five this season. The teams end the fourgame series with another single tilt Friday afternoon.

Playing like champions, those Crackers overcame a 6-2 lead to win the battle, coupled with Lynn Nelson's effective twirling in the pinches. Knoxville had nine men left on the bases against eight for the Crackers, who are only a game and a half behind the first-place team.

BIG INNINGS.

BIG INNINGS.

BIG INNINGS.

Two big innings, the sixth and seventh, in which the Crackers tallied three runs each time, supplied the victory margin. Until the sixth stanza old Hank Hulvey kept Spencer Abbott's men guessing to the extent only five blows were charged against him. But in those two frames the visitors got to him for four hits in the sixth and two more in the seventh before Lee Head rushed in Rookie Lefty Scott, who was greeted by Harry Taylor's double that drove in two runs. Leo Moon pitched the last inning for Knoxville.

Two circuit drives over the right field fence with men on bases featured the long-distance clouting. Pete Suske found the range in the second with a homer with Hulvey aboard to send three runs across the platter.

Previous to this blast Chatham rapped one over the same wall with Nelson parked on first ped one over the same wall with Nelson parked on first.

Pip Koehler and Henry Oana, two of the siege guns in the outer garden, did enough damage by themselves almost to win the decision. Three hits fattened their batting average quite a bit, while Chatham, Moore, Sheerin and Nelson added to the deluge with two hits apiece. It was Eddie Moore's first game since his purchase from the Cleveland Indians.

Susko's homer in the second frame gave the Smokies a one-run lead, 3-2, after Chatham had hit his circuit wallop over in the Crackers' half of the inning.

CRACKERS RALLY.

CRACKERS RALLY. Hits in succession by Moore, Sheerin and Koehler set the stage for Oana's double to left field in the sixthinning splurge that netted the Crackers three runs on four hits, and put them very much in the ball game.

In the next inning they routed the veteran Hulvey. Taylor doubled, Oana walked, Wright singled, followed by Nelson's second blow of the game.

While a daughter, Patsy, received a fourth seeding in the tournament, Mrs. Henry was neither seeded nor placed. But today Mrs. Henry has been established as the favorite, with a great chance of meeting daughter Patsy in the semi-finals. Both are in the lower bracket.

Two sharp upsets featured thirdround play in the men's singles.
Hank Crawford, seeded No. 5, was put out by Preston Chambers, unseeded, and Billy Dreger, left-handed star, No. 6, was eliminated by Marion (Champ) Reese, brother of Billy, in a ding-dong battle that lasted most of the afternoon.

BILL HEALEY, TOMMY BARNES ARE VICTIMS

Second Round Will Offer Several Feature Matches Today.

By Roy White.

Georgia amateur golfers set a dizzy pace Wednesday in the opening of match play in the annual tournament and three favorites were eliminated on the East Lake course. The medalist, Bill Healey, who surprised the field with his 73 Tuesday, was eliminated, 2-1, by Jack Bothamley Jr., young lanky Druid Hills star.

The elimination of Healey was only a firecracker in the hig explosions that followed in quick succession.

Young Tommy Barnes, second to Healey in the qualifying and runnerup in several important tournaments last year, was beaten, 6-5, by Gene Gaillard, young Ansley Park star.

And to climax the upsets and leave the crowd in amazement, Dave Black, a former state champion, was beaten, 7-5, by Bill Zimmerman, Augusta. Zimmerman's score was the largest of the championship division.

about the hundredth time in making her selections, Georgia's first lady was befuddled. Mr. Skidmore, gazing at each of the pictures with a keen artistic eye, was equally confused in his choosing. And, Miss Younger, whose lifework has been helping to make stronger and healthier babies, shook a puzzled head in her attempt to choose the southeasts most beauto choose the southeast's most beau tiful babies.

The largest number of baby pictures were sent from Florida and judging from their beauty and form they excel in raising babies in that state as well as in their superb cultivation of citru as in their superb cultivation of citrus fruits.

One of the most fascinating photographs came from Fort McClellan, Ala., picturing sturdy twin brothers, age 10 months, clad only in their birthday suits, standing inside of ropes arranged as a prize-fighting ring. Each youngster, wearing a pair of boxing gloves, occupies a corner in the ring and is posed with arms outstretched preparatory to fighting. In our last checkup with the judges in the late afternoon, they were as nonplussed in making their final selections, as they were in the early part of the day when they began the enormous undertaking of choosing the most beautiful baby from the ten thousand. Seated in soft cushioned chairs they consulted in bewildered manner, as they gazed on baby pictures to the right of them, to the left of them, and in front of them.

Upon the final decision of the judges the pictures selected will be sent to Chicago, where they will be displayed in the Sears' building at the Century of Progress Exposition, where they will compete in the national contest for ten major prizes. GEORGIA HISTORIAN REQUESTED TO AID FLORIDA PROJECT

Miss Ruth Blair, state historian and director of the Georgia department of archives, whose research work regarding Georgians has commanded south-wide attention, Wednesday had an unusual and flattering request.

A letter from H. J. Chaffer, of the Florida State Museum, University of Florida, Gainesville, asked that she aid him in compilation of a list of Georgians who rushed to the aid of Floridans in the Seminole wars, 1836-58. He said many of the Indian war posts, depots and armed camps were named for the Georgia volunteers and the resulting settlements, in many instances, perpetuate these names. She will attempt to aid him.

Miss Blair's latest research was carried by The Constitution in the June 24 issue, and prompted the request, according to Chaffer's communication.

'KING OF MOONSHINERS' SUES TO REGAIN FARM

Suit in the form of a motion was brought in the federal court Wednesday by John Henry Hardin, of Cherokee county, known as "King of the Moonshiners," to recover $6,000, represented by a farm and its equipment which the government levied on and sold to satisfy a penalty for a prohibition law violation.

He claimed, through Hal Lindsay, his attorney, that he served time for the offense and that the penalty constituted double punishment. The court set the hearing for September 15.

To Those Who Have Bought TVA Model Electric Refrigerators

Unprecedented demand by our customers for the new TVA Model Electric Refrigerators has completely exhausted our entire supply of these appliances. We are compelled, therefore, to announce that we are unable to make immediate delivery to a number of customers who have already placed orders.

An additional supply is on the way.

Since the flood of orders first began pouring in, we have been burning up the telegraph and telephone wires between Atlanta and the factory, and we are happy to announce that shipments of the new refrigerators are now leaving Detroit for Georgia at the rate of four carloads a day.

A month ago, we placed TVA model refrigerators on sale for the first time, and within less than 24 hours, our entire supply of 800 refrigerators had been snapped up. That record-breaking sale has again been duplicated. Last Thursday, we announced that an additional supply had been received. We stated, "This shipment will go rapidly, too." But the demand far exceeded our expectations. With more than 1,200 orders already on hand, the new supply was soon exhausted and many orders are still unfilled.

If you are one of those whose refrigerator has not yet been delivered, we ask your patience. We are making every effort to handle a practically unprecedented situation, and we hope it will not be many days before we can deliver your refrigerator. Deliveries are being made in the order in which contracts for refrigerators were signed.

If you have not already placed your order, do it RIGHT AWAY! That is our advice.

No situation comparable to this has developed in many years. Not since the early nineteen-twenties, when lowpriced automobiles were first being put on the market in volume, has any product proven so popular that the manufacturers were unable to keep up with the public's demands.

This low-priced, high-quality TVA Model Electric Refrigerator fills a longfelt need. Its own merits, PLUS unusually easy purchase terms, PLUS Georgia's extremely low electric rates, provide the perfect combination PLACE YOUR ORDER NOW!

There are some things we refuse to do to sell a car

There are some things we refuse to do to sell a car. We like sales, but fair-dealing and the confidence of our customers are desirable too.

For one thing, we refuse to poison any one's mind against another make of car. We know what our car is and what it will do, and we are ready to tell you about that. But to imply defects in another car is not our business.

We have done our utmost to encourage intelligent buying of motor cars by showing purchasers how to protect their own interests. All that a good producer asks is a customer who knows quality when he sees it. An intelligent purchaser will speedily conclude that only a bad product requires bad sales methods.

We refuse to keep dinning in your ears that the Ford V-8 is the best, most economical, lowest priced car. That is claimed for several cars. Obviously it cannot be true of all. There comes a point where claims and adjectives and all advertising hysteria disappears in its own fog. Personally, I prefer facts.

We say the Ford V-8 is the best car we have ever made.

We say that our 8-cylinder car is as economical to operate as any lower number of cylinders.

We say that we have always been known as the makers of good cars and that the many good, wellbalanced qualities of our present car place it at the head of our line to date.

Any one wishing to do business with us on these principles will find our word and the quality of our product to be A-1. What we say about economy, operation and durability will stand good anywhere.

Pre-School Activities in Georgia Outlined by Childhood Secretary

Mrs. G. C. Ingram, of Cordele, Ga., secretary for the Georgia Association for Childhood Education, issues the following information in regard to the preschool activities in Georgia:

"Early in the spring of last year, the National Kindergarten Association did pioneer work in the movement to secure federal aid for the schools during the present education-al crisis. Assurance was received from the president that the matter was being given consideration and 'would not be overlooked despite the great pressure of current matters of vital importance." This spring, field secretaries of this association co-operated in the project of the evil works administration which provided emergenty nursery schools for pre-grade childers of the unemployed.

GOOD GIRL

By PEGGY GADDIS

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:
Caissa Logan, who works in the Stanley cotton mills in the south, is dancing in a partition four miles from Stanley mills with Irisads, also employed there. After dancing with Jim Wright, who is "courting" her, she is on the floor with Bill Evans when they sight kent Stanley, "the young boas," who has just arrived. Kent, handsome and well groomed in a white lines suit, presents a decided contrast to the men who work in the mills owned by his widowed mother. As he chats with two friends who came with him. Kent's attention is attracted by the pretty girl with red-bronze hair who is dancing with Bill Evans. Their eyes meet, Kent leaves his companions, threads his way among the dancers and pauses beside Bill and Calissa. Touching Bill on the shoulder, he aaks if he may finish the dance with his partner. When the music ceases Kent leads her from the pavilion and suggests they go for a drive in his roadster. Turning off the main highway, Kent stops the car. Calissa expects to be "pawed" but Kent seems inclined to talk, asking her name and what she does. He does try to kiss her later, and when she turns her cheek, he says he is sorry he is so repugant to her. Asking where ahe lives, he starts for her home. When they are outside the mill town cottage of her uncle and aunt, with whom she lives, she tells him she turned away because she suddenly realized how much she wanted him to kiss her. She kisses him willingly then, he says he must see more of her, and puts his frateruity ring on her finger. Fearing what his aristocratic mother will think, Kent decides he must get the ring back. He is waiting for Calissa when she quits work the next evening and asks her to go "picnicking." NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

INSTALLMENT VI.

Kent laughed, shortly, and flung her a glance of contempt. "Please," he said, "give me credit for at least average intelligence. There is no explanation necessary." And the next minute he had gone. Once more Calissa watched the little red tail light twinkle out of sight, like a malevolent red eye, around the corner of the next street, and knew, with a sickening sense of dismay and disaster, that Kent had gone out of her life forever.

believe her faithless—believe her utterly shameless. Surely he must know that she loved him, and not Jim. Surely he must realize that she had not been in Jim's arms of her own accord.

But each evening, she was disappointed. There was no sign of Kent, and she must drag weary, reluctant feet homeward, to listen to her aunt's complaining, her uncle's thinly veiled suspicion, the noisy inquisitiveness of Emma and Elvira. She was thankful that the younger children were boys, and so absorbed with their own affairs as to pay no attention at all to her or her affairs.

Bill Evans called and asked her togo for a ride in the little lemon-yellow roadster. When she had heard the sharp jangle of the telephone, her thad leaped with delight in her breast. But Emma had bearen her to the telephone, and answered it, yelling a moment later, "Some guy wants to talk to you, Clissa!"

For a moment, Calissa's knees had refused to support her, so eager was her tremulous hope. She reached the telephone, took up the receiver, and when Bill's voice, instead of the hoped-for voice of Kent had spoken, she was sick with disappointment.

"Shame to waste such moonlight as this, Calissa—how 'bout you and me giving the little old lemonade a run for its money?" suggested Bill, gaily confident of the delight an invitation from him must give any normal girl.

Calissa refused so curtly that, highly indignant, Bill hung up, swearing to himself that he would never call her again the next night!

Calissa hated the little house, hot and vargely smelling of the previous daily and the little from her pil-and the and then as hot may leave the strange room. A small was he was in a strange room. ANIMALS OF THE ZOO.

IV—BABY ANIMALS.

As I was walking through the "monkey house" of a zoo, I saw two baby monkeys, one four weeks and the other five weeks of age. The younger one was holding tightly to its mother as she crawled about the cage. The other was climbing the bars, and quite a sight he made! A three-year-old boy standing beside me said. "I am going to learn to climb just like that little monkey."

Even smaller are baby kangaroos, some being barely an inch long and weighing less than an ounce! They have no fur at first, and are kept in the mother's pouch for about six the mother's pouch for about six the rortune in facing the world: but if they are hurt or frightened they come back to hide in the pouch a bit longer.

Now and then a baby gitaffe is born in a zoo. It is of surprising size, and longer.

Now and then a baby giraffe is born in a zoo. It is of surprising size, and within a day is able to run around. Giraffes are noted for their long legs and long necks; but another interesting point about them is their lack of voice. Other animals can roar, growl, snarl. bray, whinny, bark, whine, squeak, chatter or cackle, but the giraffe is silent.

Giraffe mother with three-day-old baby at Berlin zoo.

Bear cubs are extremely small compared with their parents. A mother bear which tips the scales at 400 to 500 pounds usually has cubs weighing from 12 to 16 ounces! As the cubs grow and tumble about in their cage they are sure to be popular with visitors to the zoo. They wrestle and box and chase one another with high and pleaful spirits.

and many other kinds of animals. At some future date certain kinds of animals may become extinct everywhere on earth except in zoos.

It is a rule at most zoos that visitors must not feed the animals. This rule is meant to save the animals from getting the wrong kind of food, or the wrong amount. Many an animal has been made sick, and some have died, as the result of eating things tossed into their cages and dens.

IT'S UP TO THE WOMEN By Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt

The following is one of a series of 60 articles in which the First Lady of the Land tells what she thinks about a variety of subjects close to the heart of all modern women. Every word has been written by Mrs. Roosevelt herself.

XLIX—Brightening the Talents.

If a child is trained in the habits of cleanliness, methodical care of clothes and room, and given certain tasks in the bouse to perform which accustom them young to the idea hat they have work in the world, they will find association with other responsibilities in life infinitely more assily than if they leap straight from a home where everything has been done by mother and father for them, into an environment where they must depend on themselves.

Once children begin to go to school, the attitude of the parents must be, if possible, that they are engaged in their first responsible piece of work. School is for them what work is for their fathers and mothers. For the time being it is their task in the world. If possible, there should be close co-operation between the hoine and the school so that parents will know what the teachers are trying to do for their children and co-operate with them in order that the children may get the best out of their school years.

For this reason I have always felt that the parent-teacher associations are a very valuable asset to the life of the children for the children may get to be better if the languages are less the care in the parent-teacher associations are a very valuable asset to the life of the children for the children and co-operate with them in order that the children for the thing the parent should be allowed to develop it and they know by instinct that the parent-teacher associations are a very valuable asset to the life of the children for the children for the children for the children for the they can be an agree on certain things for the children in the parent-teacher associations are a very valuable asset to the life of the children for the chil exceptional cases.

I have always been thankful that French was almost a second native tongue with me. I actually spoke it before I spoke English. There must have been many occasions when it has made understanding and friendship with other people possible which would have been impossible without this knowledge. Manual training for ship with other people possible which would have been impossible without this knowledge. Manual training for most children is of vital necessity and there are many kinds of manual work in which the child can express creative instinct which is one of the vital necessities in school.

vital necessities in school.

An appreciation of nature is something which we should ordinarily think every child would acquire by himself. This is not true. We can give all children very great enjoyment and knowledge which will make the country a much more interesting place for them if we will take the trouble to see that they learn about birds and animals and flowers and trees in early youth.

By FREDERICK GARDNER. NEW YORK, July 18 .- (A)-While

volume remained around the recent minimum, the weight of trading in stocks shifted to the buying side today and a slow rally ensued. Having exhibited some concern earlier in the week over the San Francisco strike and fear that it would spread, the market seemed to take its cue for the recovery from overnight news of the proposal to arbitrate the San Francisco situation.

Buyers continued to discriminate closely with the result that a few issues stood out prominently for strength, although gains were general at the close. Rail shares, leaders of the decline in the two preceding sessions, recovered with the rest of the list. Speculation was still running to-ward commodities, rather than stocks. Cotton extended its advance into new high ground for the season, as did corn and rye. The Moody Index of spot commodity prices touched a new peak for the year at 144.7.

Volume Declines.

Trading in stocks declined to 490,-360 shares on the stock exchange compared with 616.650 yesterday. The Standard Statistics Company average for 90 stocks closed 1.3 points higher 1.78.1

Among the notable strong issues were Philip Morris, Eastman Kodak, Lily-Tulip Cup and United States Smelting & Refining, all up 1 1-2 to more than 4 points to new 1934 tops. Chemical shares were strong. Du Pont, Columbian Carbon and Union Carbide sold up 1 to 2 points. Leading motors rallied for gains of more than a point while further liquidation came into some low-priced members of the group. Packard touched the lowest price recorded this year at 3. American Can, up 1 3-4; J. I. Case, up 2 3-4; Hazel Atlas Glass, up 2, and U. S. Industrial Alcohol, up 2, were among the best gainers.

Profit-Taking.

Profit-Taking. Profit-taking pared extreme gains of leading commodities. Wheat and corn closed 1-8 to 7-8 of a cent a bushel higher. Rye ended off 1-4 to up 1. Cotton held 15 to 35 cents a bale of its earlier advance and bar silver was marked up 1-4 of a cent an ounce to 48 5-8 cents.

an ounce to 46 5-8 cents.

While signs of a broadening of the recent movement toward new financing was waited as a stimulus to business recovery, the bond market held to a steady course.

Wall Street derived some hope from the prediction of Ernest T. Weir, chairman of the National Steel Corporation, that steel business would begin to show improvement by the middle of

IMPROVEMENT SHOWN IN IMPORTS, EXPORTS

GENEVA, July 18.—(P)—A League of Nations review of world trade issued today says that from the middle of 1933 both the exports and imports in United States trade showed a marked improvement. The review said that the decline in the quantity of world trade, which began in 1929, was arrested in 1933 when there was a slight increase.

Brokers' Views

STOCK OPINIONS.

FENNER & BEANE—The gradual development of a more favorable setting for the market in current business trends is recognized, which, unless offset by unexpectedly adverse strike news, should permit further extension of gains.

BEER & CO.—It seems likely to us that the better tone of Wednesday's market will expand toward the close of the week.

COURTS & CO.—The action of the market seems to indicate better prices to come.

DOBBS & CO.-Market fluctuations con-inue to be so small as to be of slight boths at the control of the control a worthwhile move.

LIVINGSTON & CO.—We shall no doubt need something in the way of an outstanding news development or trade tendency to chance the even division of opinion which now seems to exist regarding the stock market outlook.

COTTON OPINIONS.
FENNER & BEANE—We look for the cetton market to advance further.
COURTS & CO.—We think conditions in cetton as they stand warrant higher prices and continue to advise purchases on setbacks.

BEER & CO.—We continue to favor buying cotton on setbacks for quick turns.

LIVINGSTON & CO.—As long as the weather in the southwest remains unchanged we believe cotton should be bought.

GRAIN OPINIONS.

FENNER & BEANE—The leasts for bullish perations in the wheat market continues and operations in the wheat market continues abund.

LIVINGSTON & CO.—There is a big buying power belind the wheat market and we are inclined to think that reactions will be slight.

UPTURN ON CURB

By BERNARD S. O'HARA. NEW YORK, July 18.—(P)—Strength in specialties was the feature of a rally on the curb market today. A number of wide gains were scored, particularly in the inactive list volume remained quiet on the upswing, transfers which approximated 139,000 shares were about the same as yesterday.

Alcohols recovered moderately following recent weakness. Utilities and oils were generally improved. Metals ruled narrow.

Yesterday's selling in Duke Power continued, and the issue dropped 10 points to a new year's low before recovering slightly at the finish. Gains of around 4 were scored by Dow Chemical, Great Atlantic & Pacific and Eureka Pipe.

Among active issues advancing around a point were United States Foil B, Glen Alden Coal, Greyhound Corporation, National Container common and Distillers' Corporation-Seagrams. Electric Bond & Share, Hiram Walker, Humble Oil, Swift & Company and American Cyanamid B showed fractional betterment.

Market Outlook MAX BUCKINGHAM

NEW YORK, July 18 .- (UP)-Two prominent men today made statements which caused consideration in Wall Street, where almost any statement today is seized upon in hopes it may bring market revival.

One was Ernest T. Weir, chairman of the National Steel Corporation, who remarked: remarked:

remarked:

"I think that by the middle of August steel business will be showing some improvement and that further that was a cheering factor for Wall Street interpreted it as the reaction of many of the steel officials and any upward steel production would naturally be an optimistic tone for the market.

The second was C. M. Chester, pres.

The second was C. M. Chester, president of the General Foods Corporation, who said:

"I think sound businessmen believe we cannot spend our way out of the depression. Business must take hold and go ahead. We cannot get back to a permanent normal employment level unless industry provides ways and means for employment." VEILED COMMENT.

This caused considerable veiled com-ment for asides have been growing in criticism of tremendous expenditures without any really noticeable pickup without any really noticeable pickup in business.

Meanwhile the stock market continues to dilly-dally. Today there was an excellent demonstration of strength. A firm opening held until the final hour, when, under impetus of mining stocks, gains of fractions to more than 4 points were recorded. But when the sales totals came out after the close—showing only 490,000 shares exchanged—they bespoke the same dreary stock market story that has existed now for almost two months.

BROKERS HOPEFUL.

BROKERS HOPEFUL.

Brokers are hopeful that the end of the dreariness is approaching. The securities commission rapidly is being organized and soon definite indications on what tactics the commission will take are expected. Investment demand continues excellent, odd-lot buying for cash and heavy demand for preferred issues reportedly increasing. Some brokers reportedly are keeping in close touch with their offices—where board rooms are almost barren of customers—from vacation points feeling that the trade jam will breake with a rush.

Factors confronting traders togo, although better than last week Electric power production above a week ago, but under a year ago. Commodity trading continues strong with demand increasing and prices sweeping forward. Some grain men are talking $1.50 wheat soon, while cotton brokers are jubilant over the prospects in that market. (Copyright, 1934, by United Press.)

ATLANTA SPOT COTTON. Atlanta spot cotton closed steady, 5 points up, at 13.25. Receipts, 334; shipments, 724; stocks, 169,262.

NEW YORK, July 18.—(P)—A further advance in cotton during today's early trading was followed by reactions under realizing evidently influenced by a less bullish weekly report from the weather bureau than was anticipated. After selling off from 13.35 to 13.21 for October, however, prices steadied and that delivery closed at 13.25, with the general market closing steady at net advances of 3 to 7 points.

of 3 to 7 points.

The opening was firm at an advance of 5 to 10 points on commission house buying promoted by the overnight weather reports from the southwest and the somewhat favorable view of the labor outlook. There was some foreign buying as well as covering or rebuying by recent sellers and prices worked up to 13.48 for December, before the end of the first hour with active months generally showing net advances of 13 to 15 points, which established new high ground for the movement. Part of this buying was attributed to expectations of bullish features in the weekly weather report and when this failed to kully meet the views of recent buyers prices turned easier.

Otherwise selling was held in check

NEW YORK, July 18.—(P)—The bond market showed some signs of resuming its upward movement today, but the advance was halted by profit-taking in the afternoon and minor gains and losses were about even at the close.

The trading volume was still restricted, transfers totaling $11,184,000, par value, compared with $11.982,000 yesterday. The Standard Statistics Company average for 60 domestic corporate issues was unchanged at 86.8.

While traders seemed to take a

While traders seemed to take a more hopeful view of the western labor situation, there was considerable hesitancy exhibited in the matter of expanding commitments at the present price levels.

A few loans, however, stepped up into new high territory for the past year or more on limited transactions. Among these were Container Corporation 6s, up 3 1-2 points at 97 1-2: Indiana, Illinois & Iowa 4s, up 3 1-4 at 97, and Morris & Essex 4 1-2s, up 3-4 at 97 3-4.

Improvement was shown by some issues of Standard Oils of New Jersey and New York, Southern Railway, Postal Telegraph, Pennsylvania Railroad, New York Central, National Dairy, Loew's, International Telephone, General Steel Castings, California Packing, Santa Fe and Armour & Co.

fornia Packing, Santa Fe and Armour & Co.

Moderate declines were registered by a few bonds of American Telephone, Illinois Central, Philadelphia Company, Utilities Power & Light and Western Pacific.

United States government securities recovered 1-32 to 7-32 of a point, with treasury 3s of 1951-81 showing the great activity. The turnover here amounted to about $2,980,000 against $3,440,000 in the previous session.

Foreign obligations were again mixed.

NEW YORK, July 18.—Raw augar was unchanged today for duty frees with spots quoted at 3.15, but there appeared to be a little more Cuban in near-by position for saile, and holders who asked 3.20 early in the day, yielded later and accepted slight concessions.

The futures market was steady early, but the disappointing action of the spot market led to increased liquidation and reactions followed, with the market closing net unchanged to 3 points lower. Sales were 10.830 tons.

CHICAGO, July 18 .- (AP)-Higher quotations on all grains formed the rule today with corn and rye reaching new top records for the season, but with buyers increasingly cautious.

The principal fresh upward impetus for values came from Canadian reports of severe damage to wheat crops of the prairie provinces largely as a result of widening drouth and excessive heat. Unofficial estimates today placed the 1934 probable production of wheat in these provinces as low as 228,000,000 bushels, against an expectation of 350,000,000 bushels a few weeks ago. rule today with corn and rye reaching few weeks ago.
Wheat closed firm, 3-8 to 7-8 above yesterday's finish, corn also 3.8 to 7.8 up, oats unchanged to 1.4 higher, and provisions at 5 to 10 cents decline.

From the outset, the wheat market here was bullishly influenced by Canadian official announcement that reports of crop conditions in the prairie provinces were pessimistic almost without exception.

Corn, oats and other grains reflect.

most without exception.

Corn, oats and other grains reflected knowledge of unabated heat and drouth southwest and west, with no relief in sight for the corn crop of that region. that region.
Provisions sagged late, responsive to action of hog values.

NANCY PAGE

Ann Makes Her Pocket of a Red, Red Apple By FLORENCE La GANKE.

It is just too bad that Ann is standing with her back to you for you can't see the adorable apple pocket which Nancy has attached to her summer pinafore.

summer pinafore.

Ann is telling her mother how nice she thinks it is. Lois and Ann went calling upon Nancy and Peter and after they had been there a short time Nancy sent Peter upstairs to her gift box where she kept surprise packages. She told him to get the one with a red polka dot paper and red ribbon tie. And when it was opened here was this pinafore in white with red polka dots and with the red pocket.

To get more than a peek at the pocket it is only necessary to follow the directions given below. They tell you how to procure a sheet of directions with this pattern on it.

the directions given below. They tell you how to procure a sheet of directions with this pattern on it.

When you get the directions you will see that the pocket is made of the apple itself. But the stem and leaves are worked directly upon the pinafore. Nancy used long and short stitch, She could have embroidered them solidly but she rather liked the more or less irregular band of green for the leaves and the brown for the stem.

Answer:

Suppose you get some trusted friend, preferably a person of importance in the community, to go to see your wife and find out if she actually wants to come back to you. If so that friend may be able to act as mediator between you and the family. If they are deaf to all your overtures and refuse to permit you to see your wife or let you exchange uncensored letters, then you can get the sheriff and go after her. But remember that unless you are able to support her, unless your record as her husband is such that her parents can't bring court proceedings against you, you had better not appeal to "the law" to help you out. The law stands to protect the innocent but it is a menace to the guilty.

Pattern 5142.

This crocheted medallion—flowery in its appearances and simple to do—is one that you can use for just lots of things. There are chair back sets, scarfs, bedspreads, pillows, doilies and many other articles. And all you use is the string crochet cotton that is so popular now. The wise needlewoman will keep in mind that a medallion done in old moments—for this crochet work is the ideal pick-up work—gathered together will come in most handy for some very acceptable gifts later on.

INCREASE IS SHOWN IN ELECTRIC OUTPUT

NEW YORK. July 18.—(P)—Production of electricity last week totaled 1,647,680,000 kilowatt hours, compared with 1,555,844,000 kilowatt hours the week before, the Edison Electric Institute reported today.

There was no change from a year ago, compared with an increase of 1.1 per cent shown the week before. Regional changes from 1933 for last week were:

New England, 9.8 per cent decline compared with a drop of 11.3 per cent the week before; middle Atlantic, 2.7 per cent increase, against 5.8 per cent rise; central industrial, 1 per cent drop, against a drop of 0.3 per cent; west central, 0.7 rise, against 1.6 increase; southern states, 4.2 per cent west central, 0.7 rise, against 1.6 increase; southern states, 4.2 per cent decline; Rocky mountain, 0.2 rise, against 1.7 rise; Pacific coast, 10.5 rise, against ies, Tarzan gave his friend Gemnon the wink. Understanding, the young noble exclaimed: "Done!" "But I demand the right to conduct the hunt in my own way," Xerstle added. "Agreed," replied Gemnon. "We shall separate," Xerstle said.

"You and Tarzan are betting against me; so it's fairer for him to go with Pindes," explained Xerstle, "while you, Gemnon, accompany me." "Agreed," said Tarzan. "But I am responsible to the Queen for the safe return of Tarzan," objected

"I promise I shall not try to escape," the ape-man assured him. "It was not alone that of which I was thinking," explained Gemnon, who did not like the looks of the situation. "And I assure you I can take care of myself, if you fear for my

Light for Safety

The condition of the headlight reflectors explains the lack of adequate light which confronts many a motorist in his night driving. New and more powerful bulbs are no substitute for clean reflectors. If your cannot be cleaned with a bit of lamp black and alcohol, re placement or replating will bring them up to their normal efficiency in reflecting power.

"Now you're getting the idea," Art said soothingly. "Dick didn't know you were going to be in the contest. Of course I knew he was going to be one of the judges, and I didn't tell a soul; I didn't even tell you."

"Of course you didn't tell me; if you had I wouldn't have entered."
"I know that, too," agreed Art. "but I wouldn't have told you any-

Things might have ended there, but they didn't because some one who didn't win the beauty contest learned that one of the judges was or had been a very good friend of Mirium's. Dick was asked about it, and at once admitted the fact that be had known Mirium. and though he denied he knew she was going to be in the contest, nobody believed him.

"Yes, it was you I've got to thank, but I don't thank you. Of course you knew I'd win, with Dick one of the judges."

"Why that—" began Art.

Mirium whirled around, faced Art.

"Are you trying to tell me Dick didn't know I was going to be in the contest and that he didn't just take this chance to make things up between us?"

Are the contest because the was need to pick another queen; she was resigning. Then she called up Dick. He came, worn but eager. His first ween, "Mirium, I've lost my job."

She smiled. "And I've lost my beauty throne." Then she told him what she had done.

His eyes searched hers. He moved to her side. They embraced. His voice wavered as he said, "Fair queen, may I share your exile in—"

THE NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP

No tournament in it's history has as more attractive schedule of championships down-for decision than has the forthcoming American Bridge league's summer session to be held at Asbury Park the week of August 4.

There will be four national title events and one special event. The national events will be the master's championship, the mixed team-of-four, the open team-of-four and the men's championship played for the first time this year. The special event is a new championship played for the first time this year. The special event is the President's cup, an event that ran last year and proved most popular. last year and proved most popular.

While a great many southern players have the idea that they would simply be cannon fodder for the expension of the cannon fodder for the expension of the cannon fodder for the expension of the cannon fodder for the cannon fodder for the expension of the cannon fodder for the cannon fodder for the cannon fodder for the cannon fodder for the cannot found for the cannot for the cannot found for the cannot for the cannot found found for the cannot found found for the cannot found found for the can Experience Valuable.

Then the valuable experience gained by playing against the leading metropolitan experts is not to be discounted. You learn a lot and come away minus that inferior complex that may grip you at the beginning on facing some of the so-called stars of the game. You will find that they are human and as such make many of the mistakes that we make down here. You will come away with a feeling that, after all, Atlanta plays pretty good bridge.

In glancing over the folder announcing the coming championship, I gather that the American Bridge league does not recognize the United States Bridge Association officially. In it's list of tournaments which will qualify the winners for the master's championship, all the American Bridge league championship are listed as well as the eastern championship, the western championship and the Vanderbilt cup. Not one word concerning the winners of the grand national.

"Dr. Knight says he has no hope whatever for the movies and advises his people to stay away from them altogether. This would, of course, prevent their seeing salacious films and other types of immoral scenarios with which the public has been cursed for quite a while," Dean de Ovies said, in discussing the stand taken by prominent Atlanta ministers.

"Unfortunately, however, it would prevent their seeing other silms distinctly beneficial, educational, cultural and with a moral quite as high as one often finds in sermons."

Any real improvement must come from within the industry itself, he said. Pointing out that the art of the cinema is still young, Dean de Ovies declared that development and perfection are still in the future.

"However, when a great communion like the Roman Catholic church, with a membership of 52.530,320 persons voices a boycott against indecent films of through its Legion of Decency, and composer conducted his work at Leipzig to great applause.
